

DHEC prioritizes the identification of COVID-19 infections in congregate settings like nursing homes and extended care facilities because the spread of respiratory illnesses like COVID-19 is common in these types of facilities, and nursing home residents are at high risk for developing complications or death from COVID-19 infection.

Providing the data below falls in line with newly established federal guidelines for more detailed reporting on the extent of COVID-19 within nursing homes and similar facilities as part of a national effort to better understand the impacts of this new virus on those most vulnerable to it.

DHEC is continuing its partnership with nursing home facilities across the state to help them implement infection control practices that protect the residents and those who care for them from this unprecedented disease.
